

Internet Use For Adults

Scams

In the age of the internet, scams exist which target new internet users with little knowledge of how it works (such as the viewer of this powerpoint). For example, a man (who is new to the internet) gets an anonymous email saying "You have won £1,000,000! just enter your credit card number!" When he enters it his money is drained! If you see an email like this, don't enter any personal information. -Euan

Gaming

For years, gaming has been an attraction for many children. I will teach you how to play paper .io. First, search up the game on your technology then start playing. Use your finger to move your character, hit people's line as that eliminates them, don't hit your own line as that kills you.

Cyber-Bullying

Cyber-bullying is a big problem with the internet and can lead to depression. Cyber-bullies(or Trolls) normally insult people about their gameplay or looks and are rarely dealt with which is why they are a huge problem. A simple way to deal with it is to report the troll and block them.

Computer viruses

Ever since the rise of the internet, there has been viruses, some stealing your data, some setting your computer on fire. These target people far and wide, the way to stop these, is to not click links on anonymous messages. -Euan
